

YOUNG PEOPLE MAY HAVE ELOPED

Miss Hazel Woodstock and Clarence Mica Have Disappeared.

Sixteen-Year-Old Lovers Elude Vigilance of Disapproving Parents.

GONE TO MICHIGAN

Miss Hazel Woodstock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Woodstock and Clarence Mica have both been missing from the city since Saturday morning and everything points to an elopement. It is believed that the young people are in Michigan and that they are married although no news of the marriage has been received by the young lady's frantic parents.

Miss Hazel left the city on Saturday morning ostensibly for Beloit to visit her friend, Miss Mirlam Mills. Mrs. Woodstock accompanied her daughter to the depot and even boarded the train with her, remaining until it was almost time for her to depart.

Police Notified.
Saturday evening Mrs. Woodstock began to get uneasy and telephoned to Dr. Mills at Beloit to see if her daughter was there. The family was at the circus and she got no response until later Dr. Mills called up Mrs. Woodstock and told her that nothing had been seen of Miss Hazel by them. Mrs. Woodstock immediately suspected what had happened and notified Chief of Police John W. Hogan and a most vigilant search for the missing young lady was begun.

Developments prove that Miss Woodstock did not go to Beloit at all but to Milwaukee instead and that Clarence Mica and his sister, Mrs. Matthew Ryan, accompanied her on the same train.

Caught Milwaukee Train.
The Beloit train leaves the C. & N. W. depot at 8:20 o'clock and a train is scheduled to leave the same depot for Milwaukee at 8:18. As soon as Miss Woodstock was left alone and could escape without her mother seeing her, she left the Beloit train and ran to catch the Milwaukee train. It had already started to pull out but the baggage man saw her, pulled the bell cord and the train stopped long enough for her to get on board.

The conductor remembers Miss Woodstock and says that she rode to Milwaukee with Mrs. Ryan and that Mrs. Ryan paid Miss Woodstock's fare.

Baggage Is in Milwaukee.
Plans for the elopement had evidently been carefully made for Miss Woodstock had smuggled all of her clothing to the depot and her baggage was checked to Milwaukee. They were found later at the home of a sister of Mr. Mica's in Milwaukee, although this woman at first denied knowing anything of the affair. The Milwaukee police discovered the clothing.

Took A Boat For Michigan.
The police also found out that Miss Woodstock and probably Mrs. Ryan and young Mica left Milwaukee at 9 o'clock on Saturday evening on a passenger packet which crossed the lake and it is thought that their destination was Benton Harbor or Grand Rapids.

Nothing further has been heard although Mr. and Mrs. Woodstock are making every effort for the return of their daughter. Mr. Woodstock and Chief Hogan went to Milwaukee this morning intending to gain possession of her baggage and trace her to her present whereabouts.

Took Large Sum of Money.
Miss Woodstock is well supplied with money, although she took nothing with her that was not her own. For some time she has had her own bank account and her parents have been lavishly generous with her. She is only sixteen years of age and is still a school girl.

Parents Objected.
Young Mica is about the same age and until recently has been the driver on the Troy Steam Laundry's wagon. He was discharged last week. He and Miss Woodstock have manifested an infatuation for each other for over a year in spite of the objections of the young lady's parents, who consider the young man their daughter's social inferior and unfit company for her.

They Met Secretly.
Every inducement was offered to persuade Miss Woodstock to refuse his attentions and her parents finally forbade her having anything more to do with him. In spite of this she met him clandestinely, running away from school and riding with him on the delivery wagon route. She also saw him secretly at night and went to parties and dances with him.

Mrs. Woodstock is prostrated with grief and is anxiously awaiting some definite tidings of her daughter.

CONTINENTAL DIVIDE COVERED WITH SNOW

Snow in the Valleys of the Rockies Insures Water for Irrigation Purposes.

Denver, Col., July 7.—The continental divide, which has been bare of snow since April 1, is covered to a depth of about a foot. In the valleys throughout the mountain districts snow fell at intervals for days and at Leadville a regular blizzard prevailed Friday afternoon and Saturday morning. The thermometer fell several degrees below the freezing point.

Snow in high altitudes is not unusual in July, but it rarely descends to the valleys. Eastern visitors in many of the mountain resorts had the pleasure of snowballing on the Fourth.

The snow now on the mountains removes all apprehension of a water famine in the irrigation districts.

All tender vegetation, including the sugar beet crop in the San Luis valley, is almost a total loss from frosts. The cold wave is now moving eastward.

Des Moines, Iowa, July 7.—Director Sage of the state crop service has issued a statement to the effect that the corn acreage in Iowa has decreased 504,780 acres within the last month on account of the excessive rainfall. June 1 the report showed an increase of 521,500 acres over the area planted with corn last year. The net gain in acreage, therefore, is but 16,700 acres. The loss on account of the wet weather has been about $5,000,000. The condition of the corn, however, is better than last year at this time by 2 per cent. The condition being given as 92 per cent. Winter wheat is 96 per cent of a crop and spring wheat 97 per cent, which is better than the condition last year.

The condition of the other crops follows: Oats, 95 per cent; rye, 93; barley, 97; flax, 95; potatoes, 103; hay, 99; pasture, 107; apples, 65; plums, 60; grapes, 65.

The potato crop is 16 per cent better than it was last year at this time, but plums and grapes are much below the average of last year. Hay is 23 per cent better than last year and pasturage 27 per cent.

TWO CHICAGO FIRES DO GREAT DAMAGE

Building Belonging to Swift & Co. Sustains Big Loss—Paint Concern Also Suffers.

Chicago, July 7.—The big brick building occupied by the general offices and wholesale market of Swift & Co. at Packers avenue and Broadway in the stock yards was completely destroyed by fire Saturday evening, with a loss which Swift's superintendent placed at $1,000,000, but which the fire marshals think will not exceed half that sum. The discovery of the blaze caused a panic among 200 clerks who were at work in the offices. They ran for the stairways in disorder and literally fell over each other in their anxiety to get to safety. So closely did the flames and smoke pursue the frightened inmates that a number of them left their hats and coats behind, and those who stopped long enough to attempt to close the safes and vaults to protect the books and papers found themselves overtaken by the smoke so that they escaped with great difficulty.

Fire which started mysteriously in the store occupied by Henry Bosch & Co., wall paper and paint dealers at 307-309 Wabash avenue, shortly after 7 o'clock Sunday morning destroyed three large buildings, threatened many others in the neighborhood, severely injured one man, totally disabled the machine-shop of Siegel, Cooper & Co., in the rear of the burning structures, and caused a loss of more than $300,000.

LIGHTNING PLAYS STRANGE TRICKS

Enters Davis Home and After Doing Much Damage Goes Out.

During the storm last evening the home of Will Davis, 1 Western avenue was visited by lightning and considerable damage done to the building and furniture. The inmates also had several close calls, but fortunately escaped without injury.

It was about 10:30 when all of the family were in bed that the house was struck. The lightning hit some wires that ran from the woodshed to the chimney, and after smashing the chimney ran down into the house from two points. In one room it smashed a sideboard and a number of dishes and did considerable other damage.

Went Through Rooms.
It also passed through two bedrooms in one of which he was sleeping, and in the adjoining one was his mother. The lightning did no particular damage in his room, but his mother had a narrow escape and still feels the effect of the shock.

Destroys Bed.
She was asleep when the bolt struck the house and awoke to find her bedstead torn to pieces and herself lying on the floor smarting with the effects of the shock. Otherwise she was all right. It was a close call and how she escaped being killed or injured is a mystery.

Passes Out.
After demolishing her bed the lightning passed out the house, without doing further injury. Mr. Davis places his damage at $75 with no insurance.

HANDLERS OF FREIGHT STRIKE

Trouble Will Paralyze Business Throughout the United States.

9,000 MEN ARE OUT

Order Given This Morning After Conference Between Leaders and Roads.

POLICE ARE READY

(Special By Scripps-Mellae)
Chicago, Ill., July 7.—Every union freight handler in Chicago struck this morning tying up traffic not only in Chicago, but in every point in the United States that Chicago is a freight distributing center of.

Ordered After Conference.
The strike was ordered this morning after several conferences between representatives of the freight handlers and the railroad officials. The conferences resulted in nothing more than impelling the issuance of the strike order and an order to the police reserves to be in readiness for any trouble.

Guarding Freight Houses.
Chief of Police O'Neil has sent squads of police to all the freight houses in the city and more are held in reserve at headquarters for immediate service. Trouble is feared as the strikers are in an ugly mood.

Ties Up Traffic.
Nine thousand freight handlers compose the force in Chicago and twenty-six roads are affected by the strike order. The trouble is not a result of compelling the roads to recognize the union, but for a fixed schedule of wages. For some time there has been friction between the employees and the railroads and several conferences have been held without any results. The present strike order is the result of a belated conference held last evening at which it was decided to give the railroads an ultimatum today and if refused, go out.

May Be Long.
It is expected that the strike will be a long one and at railroad headquarters all preparations are being made to meet any emergencies that may arise.

The freight handlers are trying to induce the longshoremen and teamsters to strike in sympathy and they may succeed.

POSTAL COMPANY ASSUMES CONTROL

Secures Contract with the Pennsylvania Lines for Its Service.

An agreement has been consummated between the Postal Telegraph Cable company and the Pennsylvania Railroad company under which the Postal company acquires the exclusive right to transact commercial telegraph business on the lines belonging to the railroad system East of Pittsburgh and Erie, Pa., and to string wires on the railroad company's poles and rights of way. The agreement is expected to take effect on July 1st, and transfer of offices to the Postal system will be made as rapidly as possible after that date. It is understood that similar agreements covering the remainder of the railroad company's system will be put in force as soon as the existing contracts with the Western Union company expire.

Increases Wires.
The agreement just consummated will take away from the Western Union system and add to the Postal system all offices and the telegraph lines on 4,745 miles of railroad in a populous and important section of the country.

Important Move.
This is the most important and far-reaching deal ever made by an opposition telegraph company. It not only takes away from the Western Union and gives to the Postal large revenue from the commercial telegraph business but will incidentally put the Western Union Company to heavy expense in removing its pole lines from the railroad rights of way and rebuilding its lines in other localities.

IMPRESSIVE SERMON BY REV. DENISON

THE CHALLENGE OF CHRIST

Tells His Congregation the Great Questions Asked of True Christians.

It was the last time before his summer vacation that the Rev. Robert C. Denison addressed his congregation in the First Congregational church on Sunday. Mr. Denison has been given the months of July and August for his vacation and expects to leave immediately for the East. The plans of the church committee for the Sunday morning services during the absence of the pastor will be published from time to time.

Henceforth, during the summer the Sabbath morning worship will be changed to 11 o'clock and the Sunday school service will precede it at 10:00 o'clock.

Epitome of Address
In order to allow time for the administering the Sacrament the address of the morning was considerably curtailed in length, but was pithy and forcible throughout. The heads of his sermon were grouped under the topic, "The Challenge of Christ." In opening Rev. Denison epitomized his address as a definition of Christianity which considered it a faith which not only is a promise to do for the believer and to help him, but a belief which makes definite demands upon the Christian in return for what he gains from it.

Services of Christianity
Among the most beneficent of the services which Christianity performs for the world are the following: First, Christianity frees man. The world could far more easily dispense with steam and with the power of advancement that it has given to industry than it could with that simple faith under which the early martyrs suffered and died. In the power of Christianity is the power that makes man free and with liberty man could discover an effectual substitute for even the motive force of the great railroad systems, and the large manufacturing plants. With steam left to the world and the power of the love of God taken away men would still be in slavery and incapable of advance.

Again, the help of Christianity is no vague, indefinite promise of some future gain. It is a present, living, buoyant force that is in the Christian to help him in his immediate duties and problems and perplexities.

Future Hope
Christianity is also a future eternal hope. It gives the man a chance and an incentive to fight against the obstacles that handicap his strength and handicap his efforts. It gives him a chance to be a man and to exert his virile power.

This is a part of what Christ has been doing and what always do but in addition to helping them he makes demands upon his people. He puts several direct, forceful challenges before them and he demands clear straightforward answers to all.

Definite Challenges
Foremost among these challenges Christ asks whether the Christian can keep his thoughts pure, trustful and deep. There are many definitions of faith, but this is what it is. It is the power that keeps a man's thoughts deep when his surroundings and occupations are shallow. It is the power that keeps him near to God in the most absorbing moments of an engrossing business venture.

Then too, the question is directly stated, is the disciple liberal? Has he the love that makes brotherhood? There is a great clamor for liberality by those who have no liberality in themselves.

Liberality is the ability to live with the rest of mankind as they are, however weak, however inconsistent, however, inconsiderate.

Men in the Background
Christ also demands courage, and upon courage depends the status that his followers will have among men. Some prefer to stay in the background waiting for strange conviction and a more steadfast faith while others go boldly forward to take their place in the van of a conquering Christian army. It is a sad fact that those who prefer to stay in the rear, just out of sight, are likely to remain in the background eternally.

Reception of Members
In receiving the new members into the church of whom there were eleven, the pastor spoke earnestly of the church as a home which both gives the privileges and advantages of a home and demands the loyalty and love and care of a home.

Object of Lord's Supper
Again in administering the Lord's Supper Rev. Denison briefly touched upon the two fold reasons for the observance of the ceremonial form of the Sacrament. It keeps in mind the relationship of the members of the church and of all churches to God, the Father. It also indicates the fellowship and brotherhood of all who partake of the bread and wine.

SUNDAY MEETING

OF THE Y. M. C. A.

Talks by Business Men on Interesting Subjects at the Sabbath Meeting.

Mrs. Day was expected to address the meeting of the Francis Murphy Temperance League in the Y. M. C. A. building on Sunday afternoon, but was unable to be present. Although the fact that it was impossible to adhere to the fixed program for the day was deplored by Mr. Matheson, the leader of the meeting, he spoke of it as in one way a fortunate circumstance that the hour was thus left open. He then called upon some of those who were present to voice a few words without any premeditation some of their thoughts on the temperance league movement. Those who responded told in a conversational way of the influence that the league had exerted upon them personally and upon others of whom they had known.

THE SPEAKERS

Among the speakers were Webster C. Lewis, James West, Dr. Whiting, F. F. Lewis, C. D. Callis and F. W. Holden. Altogether, the meeting was especially fortunate in the informal heartiest words that were spoken, and while regret was felt at Mrs. Day's inability to be present the hour was eminently successful. In the combined good humor and conviction of those who informally stepped in to fill out the program.

CROWDS VISIT

HOARD'S PLACE

Since the Warm Weather This Popular Hotel Has Been Filled with Guests.

Judging from the crowd of visitors at Hoard's hotel, Lake Koshkonong, yesterday this resort is proving more popular than ever with the public this year. And well it should, for the management have neglected no end of expense in making all the necessary improvements that go to make a first-class watering place. The grounds this year have been beautified by the planting of numerous flower beds as well as trees and shrubbery of all kinds. The spacious hotel has also been improved in many ways. Yesterday the crowd of visitors filled the hotel register containing the names of guests from New York, Chicago, St. Paul and many other cities of importance. From Janesville alone there were thirty-two people at Hoard's yesterday.

Prof. and Mrs. Williams are again in charge this year and a more pleasing and accommodating couple would be impossible to find. It is the intention of the management of the hotel to hold a series of dances at the hotel the exact date to be announced later.

Movement of Stocks.

It rest is what the stock market requires before obtaining a fresh start it is certainly having a long period of that sometimes necessary experience. Fully a year has elapsed since a series of untoward events, beginning with the Northern Pacific contest and ending with the death of President McKinley, effectually stopped the wild upward movement which began in the spring of 1901. Looking backward it is remarkable how little injury these misfortunes have done; in fact they may have proved blessings in disguise, for it is certain that they prevented speculative excesses which if permitted would soon have impaired our present prosperity. Apparently the coal strike, like the big strike in the iron trade a year ago, is doomed to failure. So for the struggle has been carried on with comparatively little actual disorder, which is to the credit of the men; but as time progresses it is evident that the movement was a serious mistake and some of the leaders may find themselves dethroned and the unions seriously weakened by entering a struggle the inevitable outcome of which was defeat. The miners are entitled to sympathy for the losses they have incurred; but they should choose more capable leaders if they wish to succeed—men who can treat the subject as a business and economic question instead of as a source of personal aggrandizement or a matter of mere sentiment. Meantime, a few simple lessons have been learned that should not be forgotten. Among them these: that the right to work is equal to the right to strike; that whoever leaves a position, has no right to interfere with his successor; that labor has no greater right to stifle competition than capital; and that the sympathetic strike is a failure, in the end only increasing cost or losses to other branches of labor.

Congress has already adjourned. Usually this brings a sense of relief in Wall street; but, as the last session was singularly free of legislation affecting financial interests, and as the markets pay less attention to Congress when the country is prosperous, the adjournment had no effect. Some disappointment is felt at the shirking action on the currency bill; the need of which will be sorely felt when financial panics are threatened, but which is forgotten while the skies are cloudless. In the fall the elections may produce some new issues; the most likely being tariff, trusts and Cuba. As for the trusts, once the most inviting subject for legislative attacks, the prospects are now for less radical action than at one time seemed probable. These institutions have completely failed in their efforts to suppress competition and are gradually succumbing to the economic penalties of overcapitalization and attempts to unduly control prices. Many of the evils of the trust system can be safely left to correct themselves; still the public will not rest satisfied until some restraint is placed upon the power of these corporations and among the propositions thus far advanced those favoring reasonable publicity and national corporation laws seem to be the most acceptable. A national corporation law would avoid the radical measures of some states, and at the same time prevent the abuse which permits the corporation of one state to break the laws of every state except its own, which very likely has granted it powers not permissible within its own territory. The period of summer quiet has fairly begun and no great activity need be expected until vacations are over and results of the harvest are known. The general situation, however, is sound and confidence is general. While these conditions last good railroad stocks are a purchase on sharp declines and a sale on the pronounced rallies. The fall months may witness renewed efforts at manipulation, in which case increased activity must follow.

Don't be persuaded into taking something said to be "just as good" as Madison Medicine Co.'s Rocky Mountain Tea. There is nothing like it. 35 cents, no more, no less. Smith's Pharmacy.

HELD INSPIRING OPEN AIR SERVICE

IN THE COURT HOUSE PARK

Rev. Robert C. Denison Preached to a Large and Attentive Audience Last Evening.

Beneath the open sky in the fading light of the early evening, the first of the series of union services to be held by the congregations of the Congregational, Baptist, Presbyterian, Court Street M. E. and First M. E. churches on Sunday evenings during the months of July and August, was held last night at 7:30 o'clock.

As is to be the rule with all of these union meetings, the weather permitting, the service was held in the court house park and the great trees heard the unusual music of familiar church hymns and earnest words of prayer and praise. Attracted by the unaccustomed sound, people gathered quickly around the crowd of worshippers who were in the park simply because of the service. In spite of the fact that a storm threatened, the audience was a very large one and the first open air service was an unqualified success.

An Interesting Service

Rev. Robert C. Denison, pastor of the Congregational church, had charge of the service which he made very brief owing to the threatening weather. The other pastors, with the exception of the Rev. J. T. Henderson of the Presbyterian church, who is absent from the city, were all present and participated in the service. Rev. J. H. Tippet, pastor of the Court St. M. E. church, read the third chapter of Philippians for the Scripture lesson and the prayer was offered by the Rev. James Chalm, of the First M. E. church. Rev. Richard M. Vaughan, pastor of the Baptist church pronounced the benediction at the close of the service.

The song service was entirely congregational, Archie Crawford being the leader and the accompaniments being played by a part of the Y. M. C. A. orchestra. The hymns selected were all familiar ones the musical service including the singing of "Near My God to Thee," "Jesus, Lover of My Soul," "What a Friend We Have in Jesus" and "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name." The audience joined in the singing quite heartily and also united with Rev. Denison in the repetition of the Lord's prayer.

Chose No Text

With his usual unflinching tact Rev. Denison chose to give one of his practical every-day talks, rather than to preach a theological discourse. He had no text around which to center his thought, saying in his introduction that he merely wished to speak a few minutes on some of the possible discoveries which the people of today may make. Rev. Denison's clear voice carried well in the open air and he held the closest attention of his great audience, no easy thing to do with out-of-door crowd.

A Strange Audience

Men who had not been in a church for many years stood or sat with hunched heads and listened intently and the service was characterized by a spirit of reverence that was noteworthy. The only distraction was that made by a few little children on the outskirts and that fell far short of being a disturbance.

Fascination of Discovery

Rev. Denison introduced his brief talk by saying that no career in all history so interests and fascinates the readers, especially those who are young, as the career of the discoverer and explorer. People never get so old that they do not feel a thrill as they read of that wonderful voyage of Columbus, how he went forth on an unknown sea, sailed through mutiny and storm to the westward and finally came to the low lying shore of the country which was new to him and new to all the world. Men never tire of hearing of Stanley's explorations in Africa and the man who discovered the Pacific ocean must have had a thrilling experience as he reached the summit of the mountain and gazed out on the unknown ocean.

It seems to those who read of these achievements that this is a world which is closed to the people of the present. Everything is discovered now. The telegraph lines now traverse that dark Africa which Stanley explored and railroads have been built in Siberia. Now when men want to discover anything new they must go to the north or to the south. The Italians have traveled to the north pole and the Belgians have penetrated to the frozen seas of the south.

Present Opportunities

It seems as though the opportunity of discovery was closed to the people of the present and belongs only to the past, but a world lies all around in which it is possible to make new discoveries. There are realms, which may have seemed exhausted long ago, which are new.

The first place in which people may make discoveries is in the people round about them. Men are tempted to think they live among common place people, that the day of giants is past. Even Homer sang that the great men all belonged to the past. Men have lived next to heroes and heroines and never known it. Thomas Carlyle never knew how much beauty, grace and saintliness there was in his wife's life until she had passed away.

No commonplace People

Look at the people all around and see if there is not something more beautiful and lovely in their lives than has ever been noticed before. There are no commonplace people, none but what there is something of good in their lives. Christ died for all men and he died for them because it was worth while. In the wonderful world of other people, some of the most beautiful discoveries may be made.

Know Thyself

The next place where people may make discoveries is in themselves. Many people do not know themselves. Moses did not know his own ability when the Lord gave him a work to do. If people would only try themselves and explore their natures they would find in themselves capacity to do rich and beautiful things. Perhaps they think that they cannot be true and sweet and that the tempter must get the better of them but it is only by testing their powers for good that great discoveries may be made.

It is in the common world, the everyday life that the best things are to be found. Men may find better things in themselves than they ever dreamed of, better things in their neighbors than they ever knew and wonderful powers for good, power to carry the burdens of life like heroes to conquer temptations, to stand squarely as men and women of full stature.

The Influence of Christ

There is but one way to make these discoveries and that is in Christ's school. He is the great source of loveliness, patience and grace. By living in his presence and letting him bring out the best that is in a life, man learns new and beautiful things about himself and about his neighbors if he is only true to Christ's pure, eternal purposes.

ARE BUILDING NEW CULVERTS

The Northwestern Road is Improving Its Roadbed by Many Improvements.

The Chicago & Northwestern construction gang have done a handsome piece of work in the completion of the first of the new culverts to the north of the city on which they have been working for over a month past. The work is necessarily slow and it is impossible to tell when it will be finished but it is evident from what has already been done that no second rate job will be tolerated.

There are four of these culverts in a string, the first just in the yard limits and the other three farther out, along the river. They are being built to replace the present single track wooden structures and are double track width, which points to an early completion of the double track system.

Will Prevent Washouts

Washouts will be practically impossible when these culverts are completed. The bottom of each is of concrete three feet in thickness and is built over with a twelve or fourteen foot span straight arch—of Ahleman's stone.

Stone is Soft

This stone is now so soft that extreme care is necessary in the handling lest the edges be chipped off, but on exposure it will harden until the weather may be defied to do its worst. The second arch of the four will be rather smaller than the others but the same substantial work will be put on it.

The ravines, which are open under the present wooden bridges, will be filled in with gravel and earth, raftered with stone and boulders.

Large Force At Work

With the pile-driver and roadway gangs some twenty-five or thirty men are at work on the four culverts, yet the snow will probably be flying before their work is done.

LATE TELEGRAPHIC NEWS

END OF STRIKE SAID TO BE NEAR

President Mitchell in Conference with Representatives of Operators.

SETTLEMENT MAY BE MADE

Belief That a Concession At This Time Will Result in Every Miner Returning to Work—Denial Is Made By Both Parties.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., July 7.—President Mitchell mysteriously left headquarters and is said to be in New York discussing a possible settlement of the strike. It is reported he has been able to confer with the leaders in New York whom he went to see. It is announced by those who would know that he will have a conference, if not direct with the presidents of the coal-carrying roads, with the representatives who are at least qualified to speak with authority. The local strike leaders appeared to be greatly cheered over the prospect of a favorable outcome resulting from President Mitchell's trip, but none can state with any authority just what he expects to offer. It is evident that his departure was hurriedly made after the receipt of telegrams from New York, which, it appears, held some hope that a settlement may be patched up. Before leaving Mitchell was in conference with District Presidents Duffy and Fahr.

Anxious for Settlement.
It is known that Mitchell has been preparing to face a crisis ever since his return from the west, and those best informed say that the slightest sort of a concession on the part of the operators at the present time will result in the return to work of every man connected with the Mine Workers' Union. The strikers' leaders have known for some time that it is merely a question of hours now when the collieries in certain selected districts will be started. Facing this condition of affairs and being anxious to retire from the struggle without the stigma of absolute defeat, it is said that Mitchell is now prepared to consent to any arrangement which will prevent a continuance of the present struggle.

None of the operators or their representatives who are here will admit that they know of any possible settlement. They say that general concessions of any sort are entirely out of the question.

DENIAL BY MITCHELL.

Says His Visit to New York Is On Personal Business.

New York, July 7.—President Mitchell reached New York last evening. After talking over the long-distance telephone with his secretary at Wilkesbarre he left the hotel with several personal friends. "My coming to New York at this time has no connection whatever with the coal strike," he said. "My mission is purely personal. I am here to meet several of my friends who are about to sail for Europe. I have no appointment to meet anyone with reference to the coal strike, nor do I expect to discuss it in any way further than I am now doing, or as I may speak of it to my friends. The strike is going on all right and in our favor. We are not discouraged by our work since the beginning of the strike. We will win. No men have gone back at all."

CONVENTION MAKE-UP.

Strike Sentiment Is Strong Among the Delegates.

Indianapolis, July 7.—Practically all the credentials of delegates selected by the bituminous miners in Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Kentucky and other states to represent the miners in the coming national convention have now been received at the headquarters of the United Mine Workers in this city. The committee appointed by the executive board will meet this week to go over the list and make final arrangements for the convention, which is to decide the question of a general suspension of the bituminous mines.

Many of the delegates are the same men who attended the national convention here in February in a similar capacity, and there is a feeling at headquarters that the strike sentiment will be very pronounced.

Many of the same men voted to raise a strike fund to aid the anthracite men and were very pronounced advocates of extreme measures in Pennsylvania to force a recognition of the union.

While the question of violating a scale agreement was not presented at the convention, it is felt that conditions now exist which will bring out the votes of these delegates in favor of a general suspension, since everything else has failed.

TRIES TO MURDER WHOLE FAMILY

Drink-Crazed Man Kills His Wife and Babe and Shoots His Stepdaughter.

ALL WERE ASLEEP AT THE TIME

Murderer Crept Into the Bedroom and Fired at Them—Escape of Wounded Girl Causes Him to Hunt for Two Boys, Who Got Away.

Chicago, July 7.—Crazed with liquor, Theodore Oelfeuer, a glass polisher, crept into the bedroom where his family were asleep yesterday morning, shot his wife dead, mortally wounded his 14-months-old child, and sent a bullet through the shoulder of his stepdaughter, Lizzie Stramm. Turning to the dining-room, he fired a shot at his little stepsons, but the bullet went wide of its mark. Oelfeuer then fortified himself in the garret, where he was captured by the police.

Oelfeuer had often threatened to take the lives of his wife and children. They have been in fear of him for months, but were taken unawares yesterday.

The three victims were sound asleep in Mrs. Oelfeuer's bedroom when the murderer's work began. Walter, the babe, was lying between the mother and daughter. Oelfeuer crept quietly into the room. He carried a revolver in his hand and another in his hip pocket. Without a word of warning, he started to shoot.

Shoots to Kill.

The first shot struck Mrs. Oelfeuer in the left side of the neck. Her screams awakened her baby and daughter, but before the mother could utter an appeal another bullet pierced her side directly above the heart. She died almost instantly. Oelfeuer then fired two more shots, one of which buried itself in the abdomen of the sleeping baby. The other struck the daughter in the shoulder as she rushed from the room and jumped through the window to the alley. So sure she had gone fifty feet she fell to the ground.

The sight of blood and the escape of his stepdaughter only seemed to irritate the man, and he ran into the dining-room where he found John Stramm, 8 years old, and Ernest Stramm, 12 years old, his two stepsons, cowering in a corner. He sent the last bullet in their direction, but missed his aim. The boys separated, John escaping through the window and Ernest through the door.

Threatens a Neighbor.

With the smoking revolver still in his hand, Oelfeuer ran to the rear of the house. As he ascended the stairs he was met by Timothy Dolon, who lives on the second floor of the building. Dolon tried to stop him, but the murderer pointed his weapon at him and ran to the garret on the fourth floor.

In the meantime the neighborhood had been aroused and hundreds of persons filled the street when the police arrived. Policeman Nihil of the Canalport avenue station made his way to the garret, where he found Oelfeuer hiding behind the chimney. He snapped the revolver as the policeman approached, but the last cartridge had been spent. With one blow the policeman disarmed the man. He found another revolver, loaded, in Oelfeuer's hip pocket.

THE GOLDEN RULE.
Freedom of thought, of conscience, of person and of property—our forefathers came across the ocean in order that they might possess these things—that they might live according to the Golden Rule; and upon that rule this country is built.

It was the inspiration and strong fortress of our forefathers who landed on the Atlantic coast, from Plymouth Rock to Florida. They believed in the cardinal principle: "Do Unto Others As You Would Have Others Do Unto You," and became exiles that they might live by it. They built towns, villages and cities; they tilled the coast and pressed inland, until the onward march of progress animated by a high ideal has created a great nation of workers, free to enjoy the fruits of their own industry and inspired by that freedom to energy and accomplishment beyond that of all other nations.

Not to take without giving has been the vital principle that has inspired and produced this unparalleled national progress, which has so profoundly affected all former political systems that Governments are today for the most part the instruments and not the masters, of people. It is for the people to command; and Governments must obey or dissolve. The highest ideals of humanity are based upon the common foundation of peaceful and prosperous industry; and to promote this the common sense of mankind is bent.

Unhindered industry and the full enjoyment of its fruits is the foundation stone of this country's unequalled prosperity. But industry alone does not sustain prosperity. With the ability to produce must be combined the opportunity to sell. Property and labor are not wealth unless they can be exchanged.

ENGLAND'S LESSON.
In 1876 England learned a lesson from the raw boned levies of Virginia and New England in modern warfare. In 1812 she received her second lesson and then sat back and watched. In '48 Mexico took a trimming and in '61 the whole world wondered at the warfare being carried on in the American republic. In 1898 the United States again rose on its hind legs and did a few stunts with poor old Spain. Still England wondered how it all happened. Now she has awakened to the fact that in the United States, up on the Hudson river, is a fort called West Point. A funny looking old place that it tried to secure possession of in the Revolution by buying up Benedict Arnold to deliver. That this old ruined fort, is a school of soldiers. That behind it's battlements the American people have established a school for the soldier that no where has its equal. Learning this, the English war office has turned its attention to its boasted Sandhurst and Woolrich and discovered that the little nation across the Atlantic, that celebrated its 100th birthday Friday, far surpasses the famed schools of the continent. As a result, West Point is to be the future model of the English soldier. West Point discipline and West Point morals are to be instilled into the English soldiers of the future. Truly England is learning its lesson from the rebellious subjects of George the Third, who refused to lay down their arms and prepared to be free and independent of their mother country.

The following clippings are from the Wisconsin State Journal. They need no comment, they explain themselves. Once the State Journal would have been ashamed to print such stuff in its editorial columns, but when the editor bolts his own party nomination for mayor and sells space so that the true republicans of Madison can place their candidate before the public, what can you expect?

Now for Spooner's re-election.

The Wisconsin State Journal starts its jubilent crow over the defeat of Senator Whitehead before the convention. A poor policy when the legislature is not yet chosen and the State Journal expects to have the Official State paper again for its wonderful bare back riding feats of the past eight months. Perhaps too late they will see the error of their ways and wish they had heeded the advice given them when they promised to be good last January, after begging like good fellows not to have a new paper started. The editor may remember the letter he wrote to Washington, asking that the Stalwart watch dog be called off and he would be good. Oh, so good.

New York society papers have made much of the dinner given in honor of Joseph Leiter's ape. Still these self same papers will take no notice of the various European Apes who come over and are entertained by society leaders and then go back and say "real mean things" about American people. Leiter's ape can not talk so should make a safer guest of the two.

Local coal dealers claim that coal is hard to get. One dealer said that the last coal he got was any old kind and he was glad to get it. With the strike going on coal will be higher and still the Janesville people have not yet seen fit to order their winter supply at the present prices.

The poor Boy Orator of the Platte was not even mentioned in the Georgia Democratic Convention and he feels real hurt. He may lay this over-sight to the famous Commoners of the cat that ate his New York dinner invitation. Poor Willie.

Chicago Health Inspectors who dumped several cans of milk that had been watered into the drainage canal clearly demonstrated that while milk may be mixed with water, water can not be mixed with milk. A well known chemical fact.

A Kansas farmer, who does not believe in dry weather and who still wants his crops properly cared for has advertised for twenty-five field laborers who can swim. Thus far he has no applications for jobs.

The Cincinnati woman, who is urging dress reform on her suffering sisters at the cost of $1.25 a dress, has made a hit with the long suffering husbands of the country who would like to buy a Panama costing sixty semillions for themselves.

If the United States is not to annex Cuba, Cuban capital will soon be swallowed up in the $25,000,000 American syndicate that has just secured a franchise to get the money down there.

The Chicago doctor who tried to make a plain girl pretty and killed her doing so, has demonstrated that an improvement on nature's handiwork will not bring results sought for.

The Austrian member of the reichsrath who talked and was challenged to a duel, lost an ear, not the tongue that got him in trouble.

The July number of the Northwest Sportsman, contained a handsome half tone cut of the Mississippi Golf Club House.

PRESS COMMENT

Get out of doors and breathe good fresh air, if you want to be healthy, wealthy and wise.—Marquette Eagle.

Chicago Record-Herald: Ex-Secretary Long is writing magazine articles about the Sampson-Schley case. Oh yes, it's settled.

Washington Star: It is not likely that anything Grover Cleveland can say will change Mr. Watson's opinions on certain matters.

Pittsburg, Gazette: It is quite evident that the Cleveland presidential boom will not be able to establish a coal station in Louisville, Ky.

The next argument against the governor will be that he is a populist because he is taking counties at a rate of sixteen to one that goes for the Pasterites.—La Crosse Chronicle.

Carrie Nation announces her conversion to Dowleism and says that she will make her future home in Zion city. It looks as though it was up to Johnnie to get his gun.—Milwaukee News.

The Milwaukee Journal hit Oshkosh a hard blow, when it said: "A man must be hard up to steal Oshkosh water bonds." The water in Oshkosh may be better than The Journal editor thinks.—Fond du Lac Reporter.

Indianapolis Journal: There may be those who imagine that Admiral Dewey's declaration that he did not promise Aguinaldo independence will silence the anti-imperialists, but if there are such hopeful persons they do not understand the Aguinaldolites in the east.

New York Mail and Express: The advocates of the Nicaragua route are displaying the same sound sense as the Boer burghers. They fought a good fight, they accept the result cheerfully, and now demand that the necessary work be done without delay. Panama has won. Now dig the ditch!

In case there should be a few disgruntled Republicans who do not care to vote the straight ticket this fall and yet are not anxious to add to the Democratic returns, they might drop a ticket into the ballot box for Drake, the Prohibition candidate for governor. His name will be on the official ballot.—Green Bay Gazette.

Wisconsin is getting to be one of the great canning states and the fine soil of the state is being carefully studied to find just what fruits and vegetables it will best produce. With this possibility added to the many others and with careful attention, what cannot be looked for in the future of the state?—Milwaukee Journal.

The Advocate goes on record as opposed to changing the system of electing United States senators. The creators of this great republic build so well that we are loth to believe that any change in the machinery of this government is necessary. For more than 125 years it has stood the test. At any rate we should make haste slowly in changing it in any form.—Merrill Advocate.

Even with only 1,587 saloons, Milwaukeeans might be able to wriggle along. But Milwaukee has many visitors during the convention season and the convention season begins in January and continues to December; inclusive of both months, and visitors are very thrifty sometimes and the probability is that other applications for saloon licenses will be made before the close of the year.—Milwaukee Wisconsin.

Philadelphia Record: The season of western train robberies is opening without the military check which federal lawmakers sought to interpose in the brief bill to suppress train robbery that recently passed the United States senate. This measure establishes a penalty of twenty years' imprisonment or $5,000 fine, or both, as the legal recompense of "road agents' activity. At the present time there can be no adequate punishment, even in the event of capture and conviction—always a difficult matter where population is sparse and distances are magnificent.

How the Marinette organ does admire Senator Spooner is shown in the following clippings which appeared in Tuesday's and Wednesday's issues. The slighting sarcastic references to the man of whom the state and nation is proud, must have made good reading for republicans who have believed that the La Follette leaders were friendly to the senator:

Stephenson's Marinette organ: Now we'll be disappointed if we don't hear another and a louder yawn from the katy-dids, Senator Spooner has again demonstrated his greatness—this time by stopping a senatorial set to—one of those esthetic encounters which have made the fifty-seventh congress famous.

Stephenson's Marinette organ: We did not compare our senior senator with the Bash of Bazzouk. We merely intimated that he is no more an issue in the present campaign than the Catamaran of Cawnpore.

COURT CASES.

In C. W. Reeder's court Saturday the case of attachment of Putnam vs. Josephine Lamondo was brought up and adjourned until July 26, on account of failure to serve the writs on the defendant. After publication the case will be brought up again on the 26th of the month.

Today in the same court the adjourned cases of the Janesville Carriage Company vs. Harry Slawson and W. E. Slawson, and that of Frank S. Balnes vs. W. E. Slawson were brought in.

In Jesse Earle's court this morning two cases were brought up and adjourned. The first was that of David Van Wart of Evansville vs. Mrs. Eva Jones of Janesville, involving $200 in the sale of a farm. M. O. Mount appeared as attorney for the plaintiff and C. E. Dunn for the defendant. The trial was adjourned to the 22nd inst. The other case was C. J. Myer vs. the Hausmann Brewing company and was adjourned to the 31st of July.

Pipe bursts: The cedar block pavement on River Street near Dodge was being torn up this morning to find the cause of the water which flooded that part of the street Sunday. It is thought that the trouble is the cause of some old service pipe which has become rusted and burst from the pressure of the water.

Rev. Henry Faville, pastor of the First Congregational church of La Crosse is expected in the city tonight to be the guest of S. D. Conant who lives on North High street. Mr. Faville's sons have been in this city visiting their grandparents for a week past.

SEEKS STRENGTH ON THE ATLANTIC

Rev. Denison Will Find Renewed Vigor from Ocean Breezes—His Vacation Plans.

Rev. and Mrs. Robert C. Denison and children George and Lucia, leave this afternoon on the 5:10 train for Chicago and will be absent from the city for the next two months on their vacation. Rev. Denison will spend this week in Chicago and Delavan lake and may possibly return home to preach in the Congregational church next Sunday. Next week he will join Mrs. Denison and the children, who will visit for the present week with Mrs. Denison's mother at Alton, Ill. and together they will proceed east. Mrs. Denison and the children will spend the summer at the Chautauque Assembly and visiting Mrs. Denison's brother in Buffalo.

Rev. Denison will go to Boston and from there he will take passage on some boat for Nova Scotia. If possible he will continue the voyage north to Labrador, his object is to spend as much time as possible on the ocean. Both Rev. and Mrs. Denison are in need of rest and it is hoped that their vacation will do them a vast amount of good. As a rule the pastor's annual vacation is limited to one month but the church committee has given Mr. Denison two months this year as a slight evidence of appreciation because he has chosen to remain in Janesville in spite of several larger and more lucrative opportunities.

Three new members were received into the fellowship of the Baptist church at the yesterday morning service. Additions to the church membership have been made at every communion service since Rev. R. M. Vaughan came to the church as its pastor.

FIRE DESTROYS CHURCH SPIRE

ST. PATRICK'S IS INJURED

Lightning Plays Havoc with the Catholic Church Edifice Last Night.

During the storm which prevailed last evening, lightning struck the spire of St. Patrick's church. The electric bolt and the fire that followed in its wake damaged the spire to the extent of about $800.

The fire itself, while not doing so very much damage was a spectacular affair while it lasted. The top of the spire is one hundred and sixty feet above the ground and it was almost an impossibility to get a stream to the blaze which was just at the base of the cross. It was finally quenched by a stream from a lead of hose carried up through the church and up a series of ladders into the peak of the spire.

Injures Dawson
The bolt that did the damage struck the spire about a quarter past ten. Michael J. Dawson, who lives opposite the church on Cherry street saw the flames start in the spire and ran to box 42 at the corner of Lincoln and Holmes streets to turn in an alarm. He had just opened the box and started the machinery going when there came another flash of lightning. The electricity from the surrounding atmosphere at the box gave him a severe shock. He dropped his hold on the hook at the box and left for safety quarters. He had started the box going all right and 42 was rung up at the engine houses at 10:20.

Rain A Hindrance
Despite the rain which was falling in torrents and the incessant play of lightning the department got out in short order and were soon at the fire.

As soon as the patrol reached the church Chief Spencer, seeing the nature of the blaze and the inability of a big fire, sent in a 44 call which brought the East Side hose wagon to the scene. The aerial ladder was run up in front of the church and raised and although it was stretched to its full length, 60 feet, it was still less than half way up to the blaze. Four leads of hose were laid, two from the hydrant at the corner of Lincoln and Holmes street and two from the corner of Holmes and Academy.

Two Streams Used
Two of the streams were aimed and run up the ladder but on account of the numerous stones that were forced out of the water pipes by the heavy pressure and which clogged the hose, the stream was not effective.

Another lead of hose in charge of Captain Abbott and Fireman Aldrich was taken through the front door of the church up the winding stairs into the lower part of the belfry. From there by extreme hard work, climbing up ladders from one landing to another, around beams and up through small openings the hose was finally dragged up to the highest landing in the spire.

30 Feet Yet
At this point the fire was still thirty feet above the men and it was about all they could do to get an effective stream up to the blaze. John Aldrich, one of the firemen climbed upon the braces of the spire and from there was able to squelch the blaze inside. The fire was still going on the outside and it looked as if it was impossible to get at it. Finally one of the members of the department secured an ax and climbing up the joists and timbers to a point just below the fire, chopped a hole in the side of the spire large enough to allow him to get a part of his body on the outside. The lead of hose was passed up to him and pushed out through the opening.

150 Feet Up
While hanging in this perilous position 150 feet above the ground with a fireman hanging to his legs inside the spire to keep him from falling out through the hole, he turned the stream onto the fire and soon had it out.

A Bad Proposition
While the fire was not a large one, it was one of the toughest propositions that the department has ever had to handle. Its great distance from the ground and the severity of the storm that raged during the time the department was at work made it difficult to handle, and all members of the department were pretty well tired out when the blaze was finally put out.

The spire was considerably burned for a distance of eight or ten feet below the cross. The outside covering was burned off and the heavy timbers badly charred. The bolt of lightning that struck the spire, traveled down the south side to the belfry, shattering the large joists on that side and tearing holes in the outside covering. At the belfry it evidently separated, one bolt going out the southeast corner, striking the ridge board of the roof, tearing off a number of shingles on either side. The other bolt went down the west front of the spire and followed down the wall to the front door, cracking the door somewhat.

Save The Organ
Rev. J. J. Collins stated that he had just retired when the bolt struck the spire. He jumped up and looked out at the church, but could see no fire at first. He dressed himself at once and went to the church to see what damage had been done and then discovered the blaze on the spire. About the time that he reached the church the department arrived and began work. The spire was directly over the organ loft and the water from the lead of hose held by Abbott and Aldrich was running down onto the organ loft, and threatening to ruin the organ. The tarpaulins carried by the patrol wagon were spread over the organ and saved it from getting wet.

$600 Damage
The damage to the church is estimated at between five and six hundred dollars which is fully covered by insurance. The officers of the church are congratulating themselves that the damage is no greater.

THIEF MAKES HAUL

Small Change Man Secures Small Booty From Myers House

Some unknown party went through the cash drawer at the Myers late Friday night and Landlord Johnson is about $5.50 shy. The theft was committed while the boy, who is on duty nights, was up stairs with a guest, who had arrived on a late train.

He left his keys in the cash drawer when he went up stairs with the guest and when he returned he found that some one had slipped in behind the counter while he was away and cleaned out the cash drawer. Chief Hogan was notified of the theft early Saturday morning but as yet no one has been arrested.

LUCKY FISHERMEN

Make A Fine Haul of Pike and Bass At Indian Ford Sunday

George Cook and Arthur Cooper, both of this city, made a fine haul of bass and pike at Indian Ford yesterday. They say that the weather was excellent for the fishy tribe's capture and that they had no trouble in securing the twenty-five pounds of the delicate members of the bony tribe that they brought back with them.

Mr. Cook is a veteran fisherman and always has the most excellent luck when he starts out. He knows just where to drop his line and just what bait is the most tempting.

LYMAN MORSE, JR.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Morse, 161 West Milwaukee street, rests under the shadow of a great sorrow, death having taken their infant son, Lyman, Jr. The little fellow was eight and one-half months of age and had only been sick for a few days with congestion of the brain, death occurring Saturday evening at 6:30 o'clock. The baby was an unusually bright and attractive child and was the pet of the family. His death is mourned by the bereaved parents, one brother, Chester and one-half brother, Orville Morse.

The funeral services were held from the home this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Rev. Robert C. Denison officiating. The interment was in Oak Hill cemetery.

MISS M. CATHERINE CODY

A life of kind and thoughtful service for others closed peacefully Saturday evening when death relieved Miss Matilda Catherine Cody from all earthly sorrow and suffering. Her death occurred at the home of her sister, Mrs. Thomas Tomlin, 5 Prairie avenue, with whom she had resided for many years. She had been ill since last December but had borne all her suffering with patience, appreciating greatly all the loving care that was given her.

Deceased was born in Jordan, N. Y., and was sixty-three years of age. The greater part of her life had been spent in this city and her sweet disposition and happy good nature made for her many friends. She leaves one surviving sister, Mrs. Tomlin.

The funeral services were held from the home this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock and the interment was in Oak Hill cemetery.

Miss Anna Shekey

After a lingering illness caused by heart trouble and a complication of diseases, Miss Anna Shekey died this morning at 9:40 o'clock at the home of her sister, Mrs. S. C. Seitzer, 201 Center avenue. Deceased was born at Watertown, Wis., and was forty years of age the 24th of June. She was a member of the Woman's Catholic Order of Foresters and of the Young Ladies' Sodality of St. Mary's church. She leaves two sisters and four brothers, they being Mrs. S. C. Seitzer, of this city, Mrs. John Welsh, of Fort Atkinson, A. H. Shekey, of this city, Joseph Shekey, Johnson's Creek, Frank Shekey, Oshkosh and John Shekey, Manly, Ia.

Funeral services will be held from St. Mary's church on Wednesday morning and the remains will be taken to Jefferson on the 12:45 train and laid at rest in the family vault.

TERRIFIC STORM LAST NIGHT

MUCH DAMAGE WAS DONE

Bridges Washed Away, and Crops Beaten Down by the Heavy Floods.

Reports of damage by the storm last evening are coming in from all parts of the county. There was very little damage by wind the majority of the damage being done by the heavy rainfall.

Standing grain suffered the most severely. Many of the farmers report that their grain fields look like they had been run over with a roller or a harrow the grain being laid flat to the ground and crushed down by the water.

Good Sized Streams
The numerous hollows throughout the county which drain the surrounding country were turned into runways for good sized streams and the numerous small streams became rushing torrents.

Bridges Wrecked

Most of the bridges on Turtle Creek between Beloit and Turtle were carried away and a large number of fences washed out. In Happy Hollow the storm was in the nature of a cloud burst. The water rushed down the valley near the old Gower farm about four miles south of the city like a huge river. The bridge on the river road to Beloit was carried away and some parties driving home from Beloit narrowly escaped driving into the washout. About the time they reached the bridge they saw by the numerous flashes of lightning that part of the bridge was gone and that the balance was liable to go any minute. They went back to the nearest farm house and secured shelter until morning.

Washes Grading

A considerable portion of the grading for the Beloit & Janesville electric line in Happy Hollow was washed away and one of the grading camps was flooded and several of the tents washed away. The men were wading around in water waist deep trying to secure their clothing and fixtures.

Tracks Washed Out

The line of the Janesville & South eastern road near Avalon was washed out, causing considerable delay on that division.

Numbers of pleasure seekers at Lake Koshkonong and other nearby resorts were compelled to remain over night by the storm and came home this morning. Old settlers say that it was one of the worst rains experienced in this vicinity for years.

NEWS OF THE CITY IN BRIEF.

Loan Band Picnic: Members of the Loan Band of the Congregational church will hold their July meeting at the home of Mrs. C. D. Capelle, on Prospect avenue, tomorrow evening at six o'clock. Picnic supper will be served after which there will be a brief program.

Want More Room. The lower floor of the old cotton mill to the rear of the building occupied by the Marzluft shoe factory is being cleared of its machinery by the shoe company. The machinery is to be disposed of as junk but it is admitted that the floor will probably be used for a future extension of the shoe works, although no definite statement would be made by the company.

Burned Out Lights: During the storm last night the lightning burned out the electric light fixtures in Dr. W. H. Palmer's house. The current was so strong that a large glass globe over the light in the dining room was melted. This is the third time that the lightning has burned out the doctor's lighting system.

Bricks Are Here: Three car loads of hydraulic pressed brick from St. Louis have arrived and will be used by Contractor Cullen for facing the outside wall of the new library.

Re-Elected Secretary: John H. Nicholson was re-elected secretary of the Glidcons for the ensuing year at Cedar Rapids Saturday. He had the unanimous vote of the gathering.

Increases Capital Stock: The capital stock of the Robinson Brewing Co. has been increased from $20,000 to $40,000. Robert Parker of Chicago, and Charles T. Hart, of Milwaukee going in as stockholders and taking $20,000 of the stock. The works in this city will be enlarged by the addition of new machinery and a bottling plant will be established in Milwaukee.

High Pressure: During the fire last night the pressure gauge at the West Side fire station registered 128 pounds.

At Work On Break: The Water company have a force of men at work today repairing a break in the water main on South River street. The break was probably caused by the high pressure maintained during the fire of last night.

J. P. Erickson, Samuel Edgret and Oscar Fortain, of Stoughton spent Sunday in this city.

T. B. Earle and Hugh Melonis of Edgerton were in the city today on business connected with the leaf tobacco trade.

HORRIBLE DEATH NARROWLY AVERTED

AN ACCIDENT AT THE LINE CITY

Miss Christie Wilcox of Janesville, Is Saved from Death by a Miracle.

Word was received from Beloit this morning that Miss Christie Wilcox, daughter of Mr. John Wilcox of Terrace street, had a most narrow escape from death last night and is now at the home of Beloit friends, confined to the house with a sprained ankle.

Miss Wilcox went to Beloit yesterday to spend the day with a friend, expecting to return home last night. During the evening she went driving with Mr. H. C. Baker and while returning to the town their buggy was struck by a switch engine, demolished and the occupants thrown out and badly shaken up.

Backed Into Them
The accident occurred at the crossing of the St. Paul tracks into the city near the state line. A storm was coming up and the couple were hurrying to escape its fury and evidently did not see the engine attached to the train of cars standing on the side track. When just in the middle of the rails the engine backed into them, striking the buggy squarely and smashing it to bits.

Both Thrown Out
Both Miss Wilcox and Mr. Baker were thrown out and by the merest chance fell on one side of the rails. How long they laid there they do not know, but evidently some time. They were found in an unconscious condition by a railroad section boss who at once sent into the city for aid.

Girl Hysterical
When medical aid arrived Miss Wilcox had regained consciousness and was crying and laughing hysterically. Mr. Baker was still unconscious. He was quickly brought to, but could give no explanation for the accident or tell clearly just what happened. All that he could tell was that they had been hit by a train of cars.

A Difficult Case

When it was found that Miss Wilcox could not be brought out of her hysterics at once she was removed to the home of Mrs. Johnson, where she was visiting, and the physicians worked over her for an hour and a half. It was also found that she had sprained her ankle. This morning she is all right except for a bad ankle that will confine her to the house for a few days.

A Narrow Escape

The miraculous escape of the couple is hard to explain. They barely missed the wheels of the passing train and when found were lying on the ties that support the rails. Miss Wilcox is employed at the Riverside laundry in this city and Mr. Baker is a baker in Smiley's Bakery Beloit.

SINGS PRAISES TO SENATOR SPOONER

State Journal Lauds the Man, the Statesman, the Citizen, Editorially.

In the columns of the State Journal many strange fantasies have appeared during the past year. Strange stories on the political situations have found their way into print that were written in support of Senator John C. Spooner in defiance of the LaFollette machine men. Still the paper has been consistently a machine organ and has printed their campaign propaganda with the greatest equilibrium. Seldom has it hesitated except to put in a good word for Senator Spooner to the disgust of the LaFollette crowd.

The latest editorial to appear in its columns is on the decided turn down that Senator Spooner received at the hands of the LaFollette faction at the Dane County convention last week, when they showed their hand and made plain the fact that if they can control the state convention they will place Mr. Spooner on the retired list at the end of his present term.

The editorial states not only the editor's opinion in toto but voices the sentiment of the true republicans of Dane county and of the whole state at large.

"Of course it is petty and absurd that Dane county men should dispose of John C. Spooner in the curt and qualified language of the resolutions adopted by the county convention. A stranger reading them would infer that the ones least interested in his return to the senate—nothing is said of it—are his friends and neighbors.

"Here is Spooner making Wisconsin and our own Madison household words—only this morning's mail brings a copy of his speeches on the Philippine question, a contribution to the literature of the subject for all time. While other states must be content with representatives in the senate of ordinary ability, some of them deficient and even discreditable, Wisconsin has a great big man at Washington, who is distinctive among the half dozen leaders of the nation—enjoying fame abroad—an honorable and a friendly man, to top off his powers and reputation—is it not silly and belittling beyond words that a few of us should get together, some dropping in from justice's offices around town, other driving in over bad roads from the country, to study and plan just how far we may belittle and discredit John Spooner without actually insulting him and so rouse the sense of decency in the breasts of men, and without calling down national contempt on us and on our children? Is it not an instance of assiduity that makes Balaam's ass an intellectual meteor by contrast? Is there not a streak of low-down, low-browed meanness about this coyote snarl at our own lion, that in comparison puts a sneak porch thief in the light of a George Peabody of benevolent good will?

"The nation at large understands the petty ways of politics. They know that most people in these parts appreciate Senator Spooner. It isn't necessary for Washington correspondents or foreign diplomats to tell Wisconsin people that they have an unusual man in the senate. The Dane county convention has adjourned, but the public mind is still alert.

Predict Victory
"We predict that some one will get up in the big armory a week from next Wednesday with a clear voice. It will not be necessary for him to say but one word—that word will be Spooner. But as soon as it strikes home, there will be an avalanche—it will be a tempest of sound—the admiration, gratitude, appreciation of a commonwealth centered in one cheer. It makes no difference who is nominated for governor.

Spooner Forever
"The hearts of that great company will respond to the challenge, for, as God is not mocked, so neither are men blind or ungrateful. Fifty years of Wisconsin history center in John Spooner—the civil war, the struggles of the party, the great men, living and dead, of state and nation, and issues that touch the lives of all people. He has been a part of it all. A handful of Dane county factionalists can no more discredit John Spooner, McKinley's friend, than the criticisms of a feeble-minded school could lead to the renovation of the Sistine chapel."

HERE TO ENLIST WORKMEN'S AID

William Boyle of Rockford, Tells of Strike Among Carpenters There for Unionism.

Mr. William Boyle, a member of the carpenters and joiners' union of Rockford is in the city today to try and prevent any members of the various allied unions of the trades council of Janesville from going to Rockford to work while the present strike is on.

Mr. Boyle, who carries credentials from the Rockford carpenters' union, says that at present there is a strike on in that city. The cause is not one of wages or hours, but simply to have the union recognized and compelling all the contractors to stop hiring non-union workmen on jobs where union workmen are employed.

Unfair Jobs
Mr. Boyle complains that many of the contractors have "unfair jobs," ones in which both union and non-union men are employed. This, he says is what his union wants stopped. He says that 125 members of the various unions in Rockford are on a strike owing to the fact that the contractors refuse to accede to their demands.

His object in Janesville is to tell the workmen here the true status of the trouble in Rockford and secure their promise of aid in not going to that city to secure work during the trouble. He is plain spoken on the question and simply claims what he calls fair treatment by his fellow working men for his Rockford friends. He is sure that the union is to be recognized and that all trouble will be satisfactorily arranged before long.

THELMA
"Thelma," which will be presented by Alden Benedict's excellent company at the Myers Grand on July 25, is a romantic drama taken from Marie Corelli's story. The first, second and fourth acts take place in Norway, the third in London. The scenic features are out of the ordinary and the play follows the book closely enough to satisfy the readers of the Corelli story. After marrying Thelma, Errington takes her to his London home, where Lady Winsleigh proceeds to destroy her faith in her husband. It takes a good deal of persistence on her ladyship's part and she has to stand the disapproving glances of the audience, but she finally succeeds in driving Thelma back to Norway by the means of a letter that Errington had written to a burlesque actress. Lady Winsleigh's efforts are entirely in behalf of her own affection for Errington and are altogether wasted. Errington is innocent of anything like unfaithfulness to Thelma, but appearances are against him and the designing woman readily makes them appear to convict him.

Errington follows Thelma to Norway and the last act is the most spectacular of the four. It shows the Alten Fjord and the rainbow bridge in midwinter. The snow avalanche in another well-handled effect in the last act, which is the most interesting of them all.

"Thelma" is said to be a play of heart interest, enlivened by plenty of true, wholesome comedy and a drama well worthy of the attention of the most critical. The scenery is claimed to be beautiful and many very elegant costumes are worn. The cast is said to be the best that has ever appeared under Mr. Benedict's management.

The Old-Fashioned Way.
In the old priory church of Leominster, England, is a very interesting specimen of the old cucking or ducking stool, a universal mode of punishment formerly in vogue for the punishment of scolds, scandal-mongers, and women with too long tongues. This mode of punishment dates back to Saxon times, and the Leominster specimen was the last used in England of which there is any record, in 1809.

"Don't you want to be born again?"
